Hi Wendy,

I am sure you know this case is taking some much-needed redirection. You have caused so much harm to me and my kids. Every week, my kids seem to be negatively impacted by the divorce. They have yet to be given the proper emotional support due to your efforts to keep them from speaking the truth.

For months, I have seen your plans to sabotage the divorce to favor Tom fall apart. I think you underestimate my ability to uncover your wrongdoings.

I'd like you to withdraw from the case to avoid escalating this matter. I want to avoid filing a motion to remove you from the case. This will save you the embarrassment of defending your wrongdoings in court. You no longer have Bill to cover up what you have been doing. I have finally been able to connect you to the hacking of my computer. A police report was filed. This is just one of the many attempts you have made to take away my parental rights. I am not an attorney, but I can file a motion to remove you from the case.

I hope you take this matter seriously so that all my three kids begin to heal.

Mario
