Hi Tim,

I am extremely concern regarding what is going on. I am pleading you to help me out. My daughter told me that her grandfather, [REDACTED] had been touching and doing things to her and [REDACTED] My son keeps reporting that he keeps getting abuse my Tom. I believe my kids, the GAL, Tom's attorney, and mine have been fighting and preventing the kids from seeing a therapist.

Last night my son keep telling me about how his dad will grab him by the arm and will through him across the bathroom when he gets mad. I am not sure who else I can trust. It seems like every person I reach out to help me does nothing. You have no idea how hard is for me to send my kids off to Tom weekly. The kids don't want to go with him, yet all are saying that they must.

Not sure what is going on, my attorney keeps ignoring my concerns. It would almost seemed like he is representing Tom and not me and my kids. The judge, has refuse to replaced Wendy and this all seems very odd to me. Why don't any them want to listen to me and the kids. This is going on for over a year now. When will this end?

Can I bring my kids to you today? If you are not able to help me, please let me know who I can reach. My kids are not safe and I need help.
